

Woman to Woman: Providing hope and insight from someone who's been there

A cancer diagnosis can be an overwhelming experience. That's why OCRA offers the Woman to Woman peer support program, so that those diagnosed with a gynecologic cancer don't have to feel alone.

Patients are paired with trained mentors who have gone through it themselves. These mentors provide one-on-one emotional support—from the moment of diagnosis through the end of treatment and beyond.

No matter where you are, someone is here for you.

Matches can be made through one of our many local programs or through our national program, and care is taken to connect patients with mentors who are a good fit based on cancer type, age, language and culture, or other preferences.

Learn more about getting matched, becoming a trained mentor, or bringing Woman to Woman to your area. Visit ocrahope.org/womantowoman or womantowoman@ocrahope.org.

OCRA is the world's leader in fighting ovarian cancer, battling the disease from all fronts: in the lab and on Capitol Hill, and through innovative programs to support patients and their families.
